EGAN WON'T ANSWER JEROME.

HALT IN THE JOHN DOE DOCK BOARD INQUIRY.

Buikhead Lessee, Alleged to Have Profited by Changes in the Board's Records, Pleads That Answer Would Incriminate -No Charges of Contempt of Court.

On the ground that the answer would tend to incriminate him, Joseph Egan, who got the lease of the bulkhead in the North River between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets from the Van Wyck Dock Board, refused to reply to questions put to him yesterday at the secret inquiry before Justice Mayer of the Court of Special

His counsel sought in this way to establish a case similar to that on which Jesse Lewisohn's case has gone to the Court of Appeals. Instead of adjudging Egan in contempt and issuing a warrant for him Justice Mayer excused him on his plea of privilege. District Attorney Jerome was satisfied with this course, saying that if Egan was content with the plea he was. The District Attorney said he was through with Egan as a witness and would not endeavor to force him to testify. But the inquiry was far from over, he said, and it is likely that all the Van Wyck Dock Commissioners, Murphy, Meyer and Cram, will be subpœnaed. Justice Mayer is going out of the city this morning to be absent until next Monday, so it is improbable that any further sessions will be held this

"This is not a John Doe inquiry," said Mr. Jerome last night. "The names of certain individuals are given in the proceedings as the persons whose acts are interview in which he asked that the pro-ceedings be public. That cannot be. The law forbids it, for it says that before the issue of warrants contents of depositions cannot be made public. I think that in time a great deal of the proceedings will be made public."

Egan did not present day propring but

Egan did not present himself at Justice Mayer's chambers yesterday morning, but was represented by his counsel, ex-Senator Thomas C. O'Sullivan and ex-Assistant District Attorney John D. Lindsay. Mr. Jerome said that unless Egan appeared to-day he would ask the court for a warrant. Mr. O'Sullivan said his client could not be compelled to testify against himself and was in the same position that Lewisohn was in the Canfield Inquiry.

Mr. Jerome said the cases were different, for Lewisohn had responded to the subpœna and then declined to answer questions while Justice Mayer said the contention of the District Attorney was correct.

When Justice Mayer had spoken Lawyer O'Sullivan said: "Oh, we will soon remedy that," and sent for Egan, who had remained at his lawyer's office. Meanwhile Justice Mayer went to lunch.

The case was held until 4 o'clock, when

The case was held until 4 o'clock, when Egan was served with a new subpoena and brought formally into court. A number of questions were then asked him, all of which he declined to answer on the ground that the reply would tend to incriminate him. His attorney was not present, but in waiting outside. Mr. Jerome notified Mr. Lindsay of the attitude which Egan had taken, but it was evidently on the advice of counsel and the replies were allowed to stand. it was evidently on the advice of counsel and the replies were allowed to stand.

Egan declined to answer any question touching his relations with the Dock Board of 1901 or of his lease of the bulkhead or of his relations with the Eric Railroad before or after the making of the bulkhead lease.

He also declined to reply to the question:

"Did you sign the lease for that bulkhead?"

A protest against the validity of the proceeding was entered by Egan's lawyer, who evidently thought it was the purpose proceeding was entered by Egan's lawyer, who evidently thought it was the purpose of the District Attorney and the Court to adjudge his client in contempt. As the District Attorney thought this was a move for delay and that, in any event, Egan could, by appeals, resist the effort to make him testify for six months or more he agreed to testify for six months or more, he agreed to excuse the witness on his privilege and drop him.

With the willing witnesses that he has the District Attorney expects to bring out sufficient evidence to result in indictments. The Tammany Dock Commissioners will be subposned if for nothing else than to give them a chance to take refuge be-hind the excuse that their answers might tend to incriminate them.

Egan got his bulkhead lease in the Van Wyck Dock Board's last month. It is alleged the lease originally authorized was for the bulkhead between Twenty-sevent and Twenty-eighth streets for three vears at $1,250 a year and the board's records were altered so that the lease Egan did get was for the bulkhead a block north for was for the bulkhead a block north for thirty years at $750 a year.

It is also charged that the records were altered after it was learned that the Erie Railroad had bought the block between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets for a freight house. The city is now suing to set aside the lease which the Corporation Counsel says is worth from $18,000 to $20,000

Supreme Court Justice Betts and a jury. Charles Hunt, a contractor, is a party defendant in the action.

While Mr. Havemeyer was returning at night from the Meadow Brook races with a party of friends, including Roderick Terry, Jr., Ashbel Barney and Cortland Barnes the machine was thrown into a nine-foot excavation where a sewer was being constructed by Hunt. The machine was smashed and all the party more or less hurt. The chauffeur's leg had to be amputated. Mr. Havemeyer alleges that there were no lights to mark the line of the ditch and that the barricade around it was insecure.

Shop in Hoboken. An alleged bucket shop on the fourth floor of the Second National Bank building in Hoboken was raided by the police of that city yesterday. The prisoners were booked at Police Headquarters as Roland J. Johnson of 218 West 128th street, Manhattan; George Clayton of 129 Fifth venue, Brooklyn, and Thomas Radeliff of 159 Sussex street, Jersey City. Chief of police Hayes said that Johnson's name was fictitious and that he was Edward Montell, Jr., who was arrested for running bucket shop in Jersey City several months

When the men were arraigned before Recorder Stanton, Radeliff said that he was a detective employed by the New York Consolidated and Petroleum Stock Exchange.

"I was sent to Hoboken to investigate the workings of bucket shops," he said, "and happened to be in this place when it was raided."

Johnson and Clayton were held for the Hudson county Grand Jury and Radeliff was remanded until the police could establish his identity. He proved to be what he said he was and was released after spending a couple of hours in a cell.

SOCIAL EVENTS AT NEWPORT. Luncheon Given by Mrs. Henry Clews and a Dinner by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt. NEWPORT R. I., June 22 .- From a social standpoint it was dull in Newport to-day at the opening of the season. This evening quite a number of society folk ventured out to the open air theatre at Freebody Park, a place popular with society last season, to witne s the opening performance investigated. I saw Mr. Charles F. Murphy's of the season. The only events to-day of a social nature were a luncheon at the Rocks this afternoon given by Mrs. Henry Clews to a number of ladies, and a dinner to-night by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt at the Breakers.

To-morrow a large luncheon will be given by Mrs. George Peabody Wetmore. The one to have been given by Mrs. Charles F Hoffman, Jr., has been postponed on account of the illness of Mrs. Hoffman. TAMMANY HOLD-UP GAME. Indications That She Can't Get the Votes to Block Bridges.

The Aldermen's Finance Committee will meet to-day, before the board goes into session, and prepare a report on the application of Bridge Commissioner Lindenthal for an appropriation of nearly $6,500,000 for the building of the superstructure of the Manhattan Bridge. The report will be adverse. It is understood that the report will advise that the foundations of the new bridge have not yet reached a stage to warrant the letting of contracts for the bridge proper and that Commissioner Lindenthal's proposed use of eye bar cables Lindenthai's proposed use of eye bar cables will be condemned.

The Tammany Aldermen will endeavor to hold up the bond issue. But the indications are that the attempt will not succeed. The Charter provides that unless a bond issue authorized by the Board of Estimate is defeated by a majority of the Aldermen within six weeks the issue becomes effective. Tammany will not be able to whip up the necessary forty votes to-day. Some of necessary forty votes to-day. Some of the Tammany members are away from town and Aldermen Malone, Bill and Lundy, the fusion members from Brooklyn, whose defection helped to give Tammany control of the board, will either be absent to-day or will not vote against an improvement so much wanted by Brooklyn.

The probability is that Commissioner Lindenthal will finally get his money through operation of the Charter clause referred to. Mayor Low will make public to-day a supplemental report from the

MOTT AND MEADE ON DEFENCE.

CITY CLUB ASKS APPELLATE DIVISION TO REMOVE THEM

On the Ground That for Eight Months They Have Been Disabled and Have Been Drawing Salary Without Rendering the Service Pledged By Their Oaths.

Charges against Magistrates John O. Mott and Clarence W. Meade asking for their removal from office have been filed with the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court by Jacob W. Mack on behalf of a committee of the City Club, Charles P. Blaney acting as attorney and Nathan Bijur as counsel for the club. The charges against both Magistrates are in identical terms. They first, in Mott's case, recite the Magistrate's oath of office to serve faithfully and then say:

That said Mott has failed to observe his said oath in that although he has ceased to discharge the duties of his said office and has become physically and mentally incapable of performing the same he continues in the said office and enjoys the emoluments thereof to the great detriment of the public service.

That said Mott has for a period of at least eight months last passed been in such condition of physical and mental incapacity and unfitness that it has been impossible for the Boar l of Magistrates lawfully and properly to autign its members to court service, and such assignment has for this reason not been duly made.

The said Mott has for a period of at least eight months last passed wholly or substantially neglected and failed to perform the limited service to which he has in fact been assigned, and his condition is such that he will not become able to perform it.

The neglect, failure, incapacity and unfitness of the said Mott have caused, and are now causing, serious hinderance and damage to the administration of justice and the rights of the people of the city of New York.

Wherefore your petitioner respectfully asks that said Mott be removed from the office of City Magistrate of the city of New York after allowing him such opportunity of being heard in his defence as he may desire and lawfully be accorded.

JUSTICE BOLTE'S ANSWER. Mentions That He Beat Some of the Charges by a Popular Vote.

Civil Justice Bolte, by his attorney, Maurice B. Blumenthal, filed with the Appellate Division yesterday his answer to the petition of William Travers Jerome, acting as a with the new rather pointed toe private citizen, praying for Justice Bolte's removal from office. The case will come up for some kind of a hearing before the Appellate Division this morning at 10

What the form of procedure will be has yet to be determined. There is no precedent, seemed to be the opinion of the attorneys on each side yesterday that the case must be heard by a full bench

Mr. Blumenthal will be assisted by former Justice Goldfogle and, in certain events, by other lawyers, who have volunteered their services in Justice Bolte's defence. Mr. Jerome's attorneys are Howard Gans and John Iselin. The associate counsel for the petitioner are: William N. Cohen, Wheeler H. Peckham and William B. Horn-blower.

The answer filed by Mr. Blumenthal denies each specific allegation made by the petitioner, and, in reference to the charge of mismanagement by Justice Bolte as an executor of the Koch estate, raises the legal point that the acts charged in that specification were committed, if at all, before the Justice assumed office and, therefore, cannot operate as a legal cause for removal. It is also averred that the acts referred to were disposed of in the acts referred to were disposed of in Surrogate's Court and, moreover, that they were the chief issue in the campaign in which Justice Bolte stood for relection and that, in spite of them, the Justice was elected by a larger majority the second time than the first.

The answer further states that, in filing it, the defendant "reserves his right to present, on the return day [to-day], of said proceeding a motion for the dismissal of the said charges and specifications, and each of them, and to make such other motion with respect thereto as may be advised." For a further answer Justice

Bolte avers:

Since the respondent first entered upon the discharge of his judicial duries, he has performed the duties of said office in a conscientious, honest and lawful manner, to the best of his ability and understanding, and that he has not intentionally omitted or left undone anything that was required of him in the performance of the duties of said office or any public trust reposed in him, and that during said torm or terms he has not intentionally been guilty of any acts of commission or omission violative of his duties of said office or repugnant to any lawful and proper administration of the functions thereof Bolte avers:

If the court will hear argument in support of the motion to dismiss the complaint this morning, Mr. Blumenthal will be ready to make the argument. If the argument, for and against, is heard and the motion is denied, then the procedure for the hearing of the charges will be determined on.

HELD FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH.

MRS. SCHLAGOUSKI ARRESTED ON TORCKOFSKI'S CONFESSION.

Convicted Murderer Says She Got Him Drunk to Make Him Assist in the

Toni Torc'sofski, who was convicted in the County Court in Brooklyn last week of the murder of John Schlagouski, a saloonkeeper, in his apartments at 76 North Sixth street, on March 16, last, was arraigned before Judge Aspinall for sentence yesterday morning. Much to the surprise of the Judge and District Attorney, Torokofski made a confession, through an interpreter, in which he alleged that Schlagouski was killed by his wife.

Torckofski said that a man named Brokus was killed by his wife.

Torckofski said that a man named Brokus wanted to kill Schlagouski, but did not succeed. On the night of the murder, he said. Mrs. Schlagouski gave him a lot of whiskey and that after he had become drunk she incited him to kill her husband. There was no one else present at the time. They went into the room occupied by Schlagouski and the woman grappled with her husband and threw him down. The victim got up and struggled for his life. He was thrown against Torckofski, who knocked him down. While he was down, Torckofski said, Mrs. Schlagouski struck him on the head with a hammer, and when he became unconscious she took all his money and his watch out of his pocket and put the watch in Torckofski's pocket. Then she put the blood-stained hammer into a basin of water. After Schlagouski was dead, he said, Mrs. Schlagouski threw him, Torckofski, on the bed and he went to sleep and was sleeping at the time the police came and arrested him.

at the time the police came and arrested him.

The confession was made voluntarily. During the trial Mrs. Schlagouski and her seventeen-year-old son. Benjamin, testified that four loafers killed Schlagouski in the saloon. Assistant District Attorney Littleton, in summing up, charged the woman with being implicated in the murder. He said she was the paramour of Torckofski and that the latter wanted to get rid of the wealthy saloonkeeper so that he could marry his widow.

After Torckofski had made his confession, Mrs. Schlagouski was arrested in the home of her sister, 3 Bolivar street. She was arraigned before Magistrate Dooley in the Adams street police court, charged with murder. She pleaded not guilty and was remanded to Raymond Street Jall to await examination on Friday.

After Torckofski made his confession, Judge Aspinall said that the convicted man had had a fair and impartial trial and that under the law it was his duty to sentence him. He then ordered that Torckofski be taken to Sing Sing prison, where he would be confined until the week beginning Aug. 3, then to be executed as the law provides.
